

Heinz Dirksen

Director Business Unit Machined Components Industrial Division

After attending an upper secondary school specializing in Economics, Heinz Dirksen attended the College of Advanced Administrative and Commercial Studies in Leer, where he received a degree in business administration. In 1977, he joined Röchling Haren KG, where he trained as an industrial business management assistant. He then worked in Sales for Germany, before moving to Advertising and Communication in 1990. In 2000, Dirksen was assigned the position of Head of Sales Thermoplastic Finished Parts. When the Thermoplastic Finished Parts business unit was established, he became responsible for the Machined Components Germany profit center as General Manager Sales & Marketing at the start of 2015.

Since September 2015, Dirksen has served as Head of Sales & Marketing for the Machined Components business unit in the Industrial division. In May 2017, he was appointed to the Röchling Management Board to serve as an additional officer for the Industrial division.
